TERMS OF REFERENCE FOR THE APPOINTMENT OF A SERVICE PROVIDER TO UNDERTAKE RESEARCH AND DEVELOP THE 'INCLUSIVE CITIES' CHAPTER FOR THE STATE OF THE CITIES REPORT (SOCR), AS PART OF THE COLLABORATIVE PROGRAMME INITIATED THROUGH THE MEMORANDUM OF UNDERSTANDING BETWEEN THE SOUTH AFRICAN CITIES NETWORK (SACN) AND THE DEPARTMENT OF LAND REFORM AND RURAL DEVELOPMENT (DLRRD), TO BE COMPLETED OVER FOUR MONTHS

1 INTRODUCTION

The Department of Land Reform and Rural Development (DLRRD), through the Branch: Spatial Planning and Land Use Management (SPLUM), has entered into a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) with the South African Cities Network (SACN) to advance collaborative research, policy development, spatial evidence generation, and monitoring of spatial transformation outcomes in South African cities. As part of the implementation of this MoU, the DLRRD seeks to appoint a qualified service provider to develop a comprehensive chapter on Inclusive Cities, focusing on a 25-Year assessment with emphasis on the last five years (2021 and 2026). The chapter will form part of the forthcoming State of the Cities Report (SOCR). It will analyse key trends to determine whether South African cities have become more inclusive structurally, spatially, socially and economically since the advent of democracy, as well as assess how these trends are likely to influence the future of South African cities. This chapter must assess progress in spatial transformation across the eight metropolitan municipalities

2 BACKGROUND

- 2.1 South African cities remain deeply shaped by apartheid-era spatial patterns that continue to reproduce inequality, exclusion, and fragmentation. Over the past 25 years, a range of national policies and legislative instruments have sought to reverse these patterns, including:

TERMS OF REFERENCE FOR THE APPOINTMENT OF A SERVICE PROVIDER TO UNDERTAKE RESEARCH AND DEVELOP THE 'INCLUSIVE CITIES' CHAPTER FOR THE STATE OF THE CITIES REPORT (SOCR), AS PART OF THE COLLABORATIVE PROGRAMME INITIATED THROUGH THE MEMORANDUM OF UNDERSTANDING BETWEEN THE SOUTH AFRICAN CITIES NETWORK (SACN) AND THE DEPARTMENT OF LAND REFORM AND RURAL DEVELOPMENT (DLRD), TO BE COMPLETED OVER A FOUR-MONTH PERIOD

- a) The Spatial Planning and Land Use Management Act (SPLUMA), 2013, which provides a uniform national framework for spatial planning and land use management across all spheres of government.
- b) The National Spatial Development Framework (NSDF), which outlines a long-term national spatial vision towards equitable, sustainable, and inclusive spatial development.
- c) The Integrated Urban Development Framework (IUDF), which prioritises spatial integration, inclusive governance, urban resilience, efficient land governance, and access to social and economic opportunities.
- d) The Built Environment Performance Plans (BEPPs), which is a strategic planning and budgeting instrument used by cities to guide urban development and align public infrastructure investment.
- e) City-level instruments such as Spatial Development Frameworks, Municipal Planning By-laws, Land Use Schemes, and precinct plans that operationalise transformation at sub-city scales.

2.2 Despite these frameworks, spatial transformation has been uneven. The State of the Cities Report provides an evidence-based platform to evaluate change and guide future interventions. The chapter on Inclusive Cities will serve as a critical assessment of whether the planning reforms, institutional frameworks, and spatial governance instruments introduced since 2000 have translated into structural, spatial, social, and economic inclusion.

2.3. The theme of SOCR VI is “Transformed Future-Focused City”, which seeks to unpack how cities are to shift focus and embed a long-term approach to development, as well as what capabilities are needed to be future-focused. The theme is not just an aspiration but a call to action in response to the urgent challenges shaping our urban future. Each chapter of the SOCR is to analyse the past 25 years and determine the key trends that have emerged to begin to predict how these trends with influence on future cities, based on the data collected through the SOCR Dashboard.

2.4. This chapter is to reference and complement two sub-chapters within the Inclusive Cities section of the SOCR:

- Inclusive Cities Results Framework: A composition of city indicators that measures inclusiveness of South African cities using a predefined set of indicators that are in line with the urban policies of the country.
- Cost of Urban Living as an Inclusion Measure: an analysis of the price-based variables that can improve or worsen inclusivity efforts in the cities.

Together, the two sub-chapters propose a definite set of indicators to measure inclusion on an ongoing basis to develop a model for measuring inclusive cities. The two chapters together will identify key actions to be taken to change the status quo towards the next 25 years of cities.

3 RATIONALE AND MOTIVATION FOR THIS WORK

3.1 The last 25 years have seen accelerated urbanisation, new patterns of poverty and informality, infrastructure backlogs, pockets of renewal, and differentiated spatial outcomes across South African cities. However, the extent to which these changes have fostered inclusion remains unclear. Current research on spatial transformation tends to be fragmented, sector-specific, or limited to individual cities. There is therefore an urgent need for a systematic, evidence-based national assessment of inclusion trends across all major cities. This chapter will:

- Provide a comparative analysis of transformation across eight key urban centres.
- Analyse spatial and empirical evidence on inclusion, aligned with the NSDF, IUDF, and SPLUMA objectives.
- Assess whether cities have structurally shifted away from apartheid spatial logics.
- Identify barriers, successes, and areas for targeted national policy intervention.
- Support policy alignment between the national spatial agenda and city-level implementation.
- Serve as a bridge between past performance and future potential considerations.
- Provide actionable insights and strategic guidance for the future.

- 3.2 The DLRRD is optimally positioned to lead this work, as its Branch: SPLUM is vested with the national legislative mandate for spatial planning, land use management, and the oversight and monitoring of spatial transformation outcomes. Its responsibilities include:
- Providing oversight on spatial planning systems across spheres of government.
 - Monitoring and evaluating spatial transformation nationally.
 - Supporting municipalities through capacity building, norms and standards, and spatial governance tools.
 - Coordinating national spatial data and evidence generation through structures like the NSDF and the National Spatial Data Observatory (NSDO).
- 3.3 Accordingly, this chapter will constitute a key national deliverable that demonstrates the DLRRD's leadership in monitoring spatial justice and inclusion. This is particularly significant in light of the Department's responsibility for implementing the NSDF, which mandates national government to steer the country's transition toward equitable spatial development.

4 OBJECTIVES OF THE PROJECT

- i. Conduct a longitudinal assessment of inclusion in South African cities over the last 25 years, with a focus on the last 5 years.
- ii. Analyse inclusion across structural, spatial, social, economic, and institutional dimensions.
- iii. Assess progress in spatial transformation relative to the NSDF, IUDF, NDP, municipal SDFs, SPLUMA principles, and other national frameworks.
- iv. Produce a high-quality, publishable chapter that forms part of the SOCR.
- v. Generate evidence, maps, graphs, case studies, and datasets that strengthen the national spatial transformation evidence base.
- vi. Develop a set of strategic recommendations for national, provincial, and municipal stakeholders.

5 SCOPE OF WORK

The service provider must undertake the following tasks:

5.1 Research and Data Collection

- Conduct a literature review on inclusion, spatial justice, and urban transformation, referencing the following recent initiatives:
 - Spatial Planning and Land Use Management Act (SPLUMA)
 - National Spatial Development Framework (NSDF)
 - National NSDO
 - CSIR Data Observatory
 - Spatial Data Infrastructure (SDI) Act
 - The Presidency's Strategic Plan (2025-2030)
- Gather and analyse spatial data from national datasets, municipal SDFs, census data, NSDO layers and socio-economic indicators.
- Interview or consult with city officials, planners, policy specialists, and civil society groups where relevant.

5.2 Analytical Framework Analysis

- Utilise the SOCR baseline dataset demonstrating 25-year urban transformation patterns that will be made available via the SOCR Dashboard.
- Use the substantive narrative and analysis from previous SOCRs as a reference;
- Utilise the economic based data that will be made available via the Inclusive Cities sub-chapter on Cost of Urban Living as an Inclusion Measure.
- Leverage the inclusion results framework aligned to the NSDF, IUDF, SPLUMA, and global urban inclusion benchmarks that will be made available via the Inclusive Cities sub-chapter and will define indicators for structural, spatial, and social inclusion.

5.3 City-Level Analysis
